The Historic Sites Preservation Commission is a branch of the County government that works to nominate, protect, and preserve historic sites within the County. The Commission deals mainly with properties outside the County's cities and villages, but inside the townships.

A historic site can be a building, structure or archaeological site. It is usually more than 50 years old and considered to be important either by who designed/built it, who lived there, what it was used for or what it can tell us about the past. The Commission usually meets on a monthly basis to discuss pertinent topics regarding historic properties and archaeological sites in the County.

More information about the county's historic sites and how you can nominate a property to be added to the list of local landmarks can be found on our website.

Cemeteries of all sizes can be found in La Crosse County both public and private. They are permanent markers for those who were here before us – some are large and elaborate, while others are a small family cemetery. This brochure highlights several that are accessible to the public.

Cemeteries provide a wide range of the cultural and social history of our La Crosse County communities. Individual stones may offer a glimpse into a person's life or background and beliefs: Ho-Chunk, German, Norwegian, Irish, Yankee and more. They may detail military or fraternal service or other aspects of their life. Older cemeteries display a range of artistic styles and trends of the time. Gravestone symbolism and settlers' native languages were used particularly in the 19th century. Explore our rich history!
